SERVICE DELIVERY LIMITATIONS

- Canada Post cannot hold mail addressed to individuals who receive mail through an institution, such as a business, hotel, motel, rooming house, nursing home, hospital or school, a shared postal address (when the same address is used by more than two businesses), or privately administered mailboxes.
- Parcels (e.g., Priority™, Xpresspost™, Xpresspost™ Certified, Expedited Parcel™ and Regular Parcel™) and prepaid envelopes, may be delivered during the Hold Mail period. If you expect such deliveries, advise senders to delay shipping until your return.
- The "all residents" service option is not available for customers receiving mail through a rural route address (i.e., an address that contains the R.R. indicator, followed by a number).

TERMS AND CONDITIONS (to be accepted with your electronic signature)¹

- 1. Proof of identity: Appropriate identification is collected to prevent identity theft and other improper use of this service, as well as to permit follow-up investigation if required for law enforcement and other legal purposes. Canada Post is subject to the Privacy Act and takes appropriate steps to protect your personal information.
- 2. Rates: The minimum residential rate is based on a 10-weekday period, while the business rate is based on five-weekday period (weekdays include statutory holidays). However, Hold Mail can be purchased for a shorter period. When holding mail addressed to individuals, the residential rate applies. The business rate applies when a business name is included. Visit your post office or canadapost.ca/hold for information on current rates.
- 3. Mail recipients: Residential requests can include a maximum of eight individual names. Business requests can include a maximum of two business names and six individual names. Additional names beyond the four listed on this form can be added online, for a fee (when you provide an email at time of purchase). Applicable proof of authority to act on behalf of another may be required.
- 4. Changes and cancellation: You can extend, modify² or cancel the service, at any time during its duration:
 - at canadapost.ca/signin (when you provide an email address at time of purchase)
 - at a post office by presenting the original receipt, appropriate identification (e.g., government-issued photo ID) and if applicable, proof of authorization. No refunds are provided once the service has started. On the next business day following the expiry or cancellation date, Canada Post will deliver the mail held for your address. Canada Post reserves the right to not hold mail and to end the service at anytime.
- 5. Mail pickup during Hold Mail period: During the Hold Mail period, mail pickup is not available at any Canada Post location. To resume mail delivery to your address before the Hold Mail service expires, you must cancel the service.
- 6. No liability: Canada Post and its agents (including, but not limited to authorized dealers) will not be responsible for any direct, indirect, general, special or consequential damages arising out of or in any way connected to this agreement regardless of whether such damages are based on contract or tort.
- 7. Privacy: Canada Post may provide your personal information to third party identification services, including telecommunications providers, in order to confirm your identity and protect you from fraud and identity theft, and you provide consent for such third party services to verify your personal information with records they may have about you. Visit canadapost.ca/privacy for more information on personal information protection. To discontinue Hold Mail related communications, visit canadapost.ca/holdmail-optout.

1. Canada Post reserves the right to change the terms and conditions of the service at any time.
2. The address cannot be changed after the service has started.
